

'TIS A GOODLY TOWN.

Janesville and Its Advantages from a Commercial Standpoint.

A FEW OF ITS NOTEWORTHY POINTS

Site and Surroundings Make it a City That May Well Receive Favorable Consideration from Capitalist and Manufacturer—Public Improvements.

On the east and west banks of the magnificent Rock river stands Janesville. Its elevation is crowded with handsome business blocks, and its streets thronged with a busy, prosperous population, while the banks of the river are crowded with shops and factories, and the more retired streets are lined with beautiful homes—from the mansion of wealth to the cottage of labor. As the delighted eye takes in the beautiful scene sweeping for miles, it will not fail to note the great number of fine buildings that adorn the city, attesting the culture and humanity of its people.

Brave and worthy founders and pioneers! Would that you could see the fruit of your toil! Surely you "built better than you knew." So much for Janesville's site. What the city may be, and should be, the future will determine; but our people have cause to be hopeful and courageous. The beauty of situation will but increase as time passes, and the artistic hand of man improves it. The attractions to Janesville as a home are not excelled anywhere in a city of its size and pretensions. The opportunities it offers to labor, capital and enterprise, in its many improvements and undeveloped resources, are many and great. The verdict of every thoughtful stranger who enters our gates is:

"You Janesville people are not half as good as you should be of your beautiful city. It is one of the most lovely places I have seen in our land of handsome towns and cities."

The solid prosperity that has accompanied its growth is so familiar that like the air we breathe, it is scarcely appreciated. Failures in business have been rare, and never very extensive or disastrous. The gains of enterprise and industry have been almost uniformly steady and gratifying. Few great fortunes have been accumulated, but many have won a competence, and most have achieved comfort. It is an average that shows well when fairly considered, and should be a subject of more acknowledgment than it receives. No fact of our condition attests more emphatically the possession of the elements of future growth. It is a solid business situation—not a boom bubble.

Let us now turn our attention to the details of Janesville's present situation and specify the marks of development. Enough has been said to show that nature has done much, and broad hints of what the city has done for itself have been given, but the entire sketch needs the filling in of facts to make its object clear. Conceding from these statements that we have a beautiful city; well built, exceedingly healthy, substantially prosperous, surrounded by a highly improved and fertile country, rich in resources and natural advantages, and offering inducements to capital, labor and the lover of home comforts, the question still may be asked: "What has it done for itself? What are its improvements?" In answers to these questions we will find the substantial merits of our environment the proof of our enterprise and many of the attractions we can offer to the world.

Public Improvements.
Among the best evidences of a high civilization are improved highways, and the substantial, well kept streets of a city speak loudly in its praise. In this respect Janesville is in the front. No city of its size has better streets and sidewalks. Solid, convenient and well drained, they do the highest credit to our spirit of public improvement.

The question of water supply is even more important in a city than its streets and sidewalks. Janesville, in a state of nature, abounds in springs of pure water. Wells in every door yard reach this source of supply. The river furnishes another inexhaustible quantity of soft water, the common use of which is easily made pure. Water works, with miles of mains, carry water from artesian wells to all parts of the city, and are yearly extending their beneficent advantages.

Closely connected with our water supply is our protection from fire. To both we justly "point with pride." No city anywhere is so well and so cheaply protected from disaster by fire as Janesville. From every necessary point upon its miles of water mains several strong streams can be thrown upon any fire that may occur, and in an experience of four years but one fire has been able to resist them. The fire department is admirably organized and trained; and its presence at a fire is only a question of minutes. Property owners sleep securely under its guardianship, fully realizing that it is master of the situation. Insurance rates are made in accordance with that fact: The fire protection could not be much more perfect.

Street Lighting.
In the matter of street lighting, the city has been progressive. A superior quality of artificial gas furnishes an abundance of light in almost every section, while in portions of the city the electric arc light has been adopted, and now many of these bright stars of night illuminate these sections. There are few if any dark places anywhere within the city limits.

Public Schools.
The schools of Janesville have long been as the "apple of its eye," and its money has flowed freely to secure their progress and efficiency. Thousands of dollars have been invested in school property. The buildings are large, handsome and substantial structures, conveniently located for the attendance of the pupils. Our schools stand among the first in the state in the efficiency of their management and success of their educational progress, while there are also other flourishing private schools which keep pace with the public schools in their respective fields of labor.

Street Railways.
About five miles of street railway have been constructed, and are successfully operated. More than half the people of the city can reach the line in a walk of a few squares. It has proven a great public convenience, making the opera house, depots, stores, churches and public places conveniently accessible. Its utility is attested by its success and the plans of its proprietors for its further extension.

Churches.
The churches of Janesville are a patent evidence of its high moral and religious culture in their number, membership and support. Every denomination is represented, and many of them are strong in membership, supporting pastors of first-class ability occupying houses of worship that do credit to the taste and liberality of their congregations. All have church homes of their own, built and furnished at a large cost. The church privileges of Janesville are not surpassed in any community of 12,000 souls.

Public Parks.
Our city can boast of its several parks. Our people have not been unmindful of the necessity and value of such breathing places, and we have several of these delightful spots of refreshment in the city, which may be termed gems.

A court house of handsome appearance and sufficient capacity to accommodate the needs of the people for many years to come, occupies a most eligible site. It is the pride of the people of Janesville and of Rock county.

The advantage and beauty of the lovely Rock river, with its immense and valuable water power, has not been gained without cost in the bridges required to accommodate the traffic of rail and road. Three of these structures span the river. They are built of wood, are of fine appearance and improved construction, and another is soon to be added to the number. These will meet the necessities of the situation for some years to come.

The institution for the Blind is near by, and may be fairly considered a part of our improvements. The handsome buildings erected at an immense cost on a most beautiful site, is an institution of which we may well feel proud. It is a state institution, and the support of its numerous inmates is chiefly drawn from our resources and productions. It is a place well worthy of a visit, and is conducted in a manner that reflects credit upon its locality.

THE FARMERS' MILL.

NORCROSS & DOTY PROPRIETORS OF THE BLUE CROSS TRADE MARK.

No industrial review of Janesville would be complete which neglected the give prominence to the old established and popular industry conducted under the above heading. This is one of the oldest custom mills in this section of the state. This mill is located at the foot of Dodge street and is one of the largest mill structures in this county. It is 50x50 feet in dimensions, four stories in height, and is thoroughly equipped with the latest and most improved machinery for the manufacture of specialties in the mill process. The specialties manufactured by the proprietors of the Farmers' mill consist of graham flour, granulated corn meal, buckwheat and rye flour, in which lines they have built up an enviable reputation.

In connection with the goods they do general custom work for the farmers of the surrounding country, and in this line have one of the largest trades in this section of the state.

This mill has a daily capacity of fifty barrels of flour and fifty tons of feed and is constantly kept running to its full capacity to meet the demand for their goods. Their specialties are known throughout this and the adjoining states, where they have built up an enviable reputation for the excellence of their goods. All goods shipped from this mill are branded with their "Blue Cross" trade mark.

The firm is composed of Messrs. Pliny Norcross and E. P. Doty, who are among Janesville's most practical and energetic business men, and have always shown a disposition to lead in the introduction of any improved machinery that would in any way increase or improve their products.

The mill is under the management of Mr. Doty, who is a practical miller of long experience, and who spares no pains to make the best goods that can be produced.

Mr. Norcross the senior member of the firm is one of the most prominent business men in Janesville and interested in several of our leading manufacturing industries, and partner of the shoe manufacturing firm of Richardson & Norcross. Messrs. Norcross & Doty hold a high position in financial and commercial circles, and are recognized as among our most enterprising and public spirited citizens.

THE TRANSFER AND IMPLEMENT CO.
AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE AND ONE FAST GAINING NOTE.

No industry of late establishment in Janesville has started out under brighter auspices and has more solid signs of future importance than that named above. The members of the firm are all thorough business men and understand to a nicety what the public demand in their line requires. The business of the Transfer and Implement Company is conducted in a manner that is strictly harmonious with the progressive spirit of the age, and commensurate with the extensive plan on which the business was commenced and will be continued. This business was established January 1st of the present year, the members of the firm being Messrs. F. R. Granger, O. C. Alworth and H. H. Harris. The business of the firm is storage and forwarding; and dealing in farm machinery, wagons, carriages, harness, etc. They occupy in their business four buildings 24x100, 19x20, 24x24 feet in dimensions, respectively, located at Nos. 312, 314, 316 and 318 West Milwaukee street. In addition to a multifarious collection of all the farm implements, large and small, known to the trade, with their attachments and repairs, this company has exclusive agency for the Steel Frame Milwaukee binders and mowers, the Nichols and commercial circles, and are recognized as among our most enterprising and public spirited citizens.

MODERN MILLING.

THE CITY MILLS.—FORD & CROSSETT.

There is, undoubtedly, no department of manufacture in which so many notable improvements have been made as in the milling industry. A few years since, before the gradual reduction process came into use, flour was simply the production of wheat ground fine between two stones. It had neither life, color, or essential strength, but it went by the name of flour. As a people we were not so thoroughly posted then as now, it answered the purpose in a measure. With the introduction of what is technically termed the roller process the business was completely revolutionized, and flour now produced combines all the elements of strength and bread making qualities possible to attain. Perhaps there is no mill in Janesville and vicinity more favorably known for the high quality of its output than the City Mills, which are owned and operated by Messrs. Ford & Crosett.

THE J. S. WOODS' MILL.
This mill is under the management of Mr. Wood, who is a practical miller of long experience, and who spares no pains to make the best goods that can be produced.

The City Mills are provided and equipped with the most improved roller process machinery. The system being the George T. Smith, Centrifugal system, which is pronounced by expert millers in every section to be superior to all others. The City Mills is in fact a model establishment run on modern principles, and with the object of producing the best possible results in the briefest possible time. The favorite brands of these mills are made from the best selected Minnesota and Dakota grain, carefully graded, and are widely popular with the trade and general public. The brands are "Rising Sun Fancy Patent," "Golden Wedding" and "Daisy." The mills have a capacity of one hundred barrels per day, and are constantly run to the limit to meet the demand. In addition to the large quantity of wheat flour here produced they also turn out large quantities of buckwheat flour, and the popular "Buckwheat Ben Pure," Janesville, Wis., which is their trade mark, has gained popular favor in all the principal markets of this country. This flour is absolutely pure, as the firm will not handle an adulterated article. The firm sold in 1888 eight thousand barrels of this celebrated flour. In 1889 they sold over eight thousand barrels, and last year over seventeen thousand barrels were sold. If this is not sufficient, to convince the trade that "Buckwheat Ben Pure" is the unadulterated flour, we are at a loss to put it any stronger. As this increase in sales show at once how it is appreciated by the lovers of buckwheat cakes. The City Mills were established in 1879 by O. B. Ford, and in 1881 came into the hands of Messrs. O. C. Ford and B. F. Crosett, who have pushed the business to a most successful issue; they are practical millers and popular citizens, and the success they have achieved for the city mills is certainly deserving of a liberal share of public patronage. Mr. Ford is one of the firm of Ford & Meyer, the largest producers of rye flour in the state, and consequently the management of the City Mills rests upon the shoulders of "Buckwheat Ben," or properly putting it, B. F. Crosett. The City Mills are well managed and in every way a representative institution.

WELL KNOWN ESTABLISHMENTS.

Many Hives Where There Is Little Rest From Monday Morning Until Saturday Night—Names Connected with Janesville Progress.

A careful review of the industrial interests of our city develops the existence of a class of houses prepared to compete in the several lines they represent with the rival establishments of any city in the United States. Their ample resources, high commercial standing, and remarkable enterprise are matters of which our citizens have every reason to be proud. It is not our mission to institute comparisons, but to present a faithful picture of this extensive array of industrial energy. Prominent among the representative and progressive houses of this city, and of the United States is that of the Janesville Machine Company, manufacturers of farm machinery. This business was founded in 1859 as the Harris Manufacturing company and conducted by them until 1881, when it was incorporated, and became the Janesville Machine Company. It has always been the ambition of the Janesville Machine Company to present to its customers only such machinery as commands itself, not only by originality of design, but also by superiority of workmanship, materials, finish and the general efficiency of its operation. This company turns out the "Crown" Mower, "Rival Press" Drill, "Leader" Grain Drill, "Prairie City" Seeder, the "Leader" eleven to 17 broadens, sower, the "Halling" Rotary Disk Harrow, The Janesville Rotary Disk Corn Cultivator, the Disk sharpener, besides other machinery not of less importance, but so well known as to need no mention in this edition. Other manufacturing establishments besides those mentioned more in detail on other pages are as follows:

ment is furnished to a large force of operatives.

THE NEW DOTY MANUFACTURING COMPANY is one of the growing industries of Janesville, having a large trade and excellent facilities for manufacturing and shipping. The products of the company are Hand and Belt Power Punching and Shearing machinery and boiler makers' rolls. A large force of men are required in the works.

JANESVILLE WOOLEN MILLS.—This enterprise dates its establishment from 1882. June 1st of this year it was re-organized and incorporated with a capital of $55,000.00, the officers of the company being B. B. Eldridge, president; F. C. Cook, vice-president; C. S. Jackson, treasurer, and F. C. Haselton, secretary. They are all among our most enterprising and influential citizens, and the Janesville woolen mills, under their efficient management, cannot prove otherwise than a success.

FORD & MEYER.—One of the oldest enterprises in the line of milling industries in Janesville is that now owned and conducted by Ford & Meyer. This prosperous industry was established in 1867 while it was completed in its appointments and possessed a large producing capacity, it was unpretentious in comparison with the mill of to-day. These mills are equipped with all the latest machinery known to the art, and in its equipment is one of the most complete for the purpose in the United States. The specialty of the Ford's mills is rye flour, in which the firm has secured an established reputation for purity and superior excellence wherever they are known. The output of the mills is over 1,000 barrels per week and supplies a large trade in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, St. Louis and other prominent points east and west.

JANESVILLE BARE WIRE COMPANY.—This well-known and popular company was established in 1882, and by judicious management and the superiority of products, has developed a large trade. About 25 men find regular employment and to them liberal wages are paid.

A LARGE INDUSTRY.

For some years past Janesville has ranked as an important center in the preparation and shipment of imitation cedar cigar box lumber. The extensive forests of bass wood, and its superior quality and fineness of grain, has placed our section conspicuously before the public in every section of this country. Among the houses engaged in the preparation and sale of this particular branch and the largest in this section is that of A. C. Kent, Nos. 292 to 272 North Main street. This extensive establishment, established in 1886 and covering up wards of an acre of ground with the several buildings devoted to the preparation of the lumber for market is one of the most extensive and growing industries of the west. Mr. Kent spares no pains or expense to make the most perfect lumber in the world, and as a consequence the trade can always depend upon matching the lumber. The sales are chiefly to the largest manufacturing concerns of cedar boxes in all points north, south, east and west. In addition to the lumber business Mr. Kent has the and are offered to the trade and farmers at very moderate prices.

In the various departments of the business Mr. Kent furnishes employment to an average force of twenty-five hands, and his general business is in an exceedingly prosperous and growing condition. Mr. Kent has resided in Janesville since 1861, and is always interested in anything that has for its object the advancement of the city's interests. The success which is characteristic of his business enterprise, had its foundation in sterling business integrity, reliability, fair dealing and carefulness of detail displayed, and to the careful consideration of Mr. Kent we leave those of our readers with whom he may have business dealings.

A GROWING INDUSTRY.

THOROUGHGOOD & COMPANY.

Among the diversified industries of Janesville is the large steam cigar box factory of which Messrs. Jno. Thoroughgood and Fenner Kimball are the proprietors. They are among the most progressive of Janesville's business men, and are both native residents of the city. The business conducted by these gentlemen was established in 1874 by Messrs. Jno. Thoroughgood and F. T. Stevens, under the firm name of F. T. Stevens & Co., and thus continued until 1881, when Mr. Kimball succeeded to the interests of Mr. Stevens, and the firm became as at present. The urgent demand for increased facilities resulted in the erection of the present premises which were completed in January, 1890. The buildings are of brick, three stories in height with basement 80x60 feet. They are equipped with the latest improved machinery and appliances run by steam power, and afford employment to upwards of fifty skilled hands in the manufacture of all sizes and styles of cigar boxes, and make a specialty of prepared lumber for cigar boxes and light boxes of all kinds.

J. S. ANDERSON.

A PROMINENT REAL ESTATE AND LOAN AGENCY.

The rapid development of the real estate market of Janesville and the enhancing values of choice property render the financial interests involved of paramount importance. No form of investment has become so popular with the conservative public as judiciously selected real estate, for not only is it a permanent source of income but there is a reasonable certainty of prospective increase in value. In selecting property for investment or any other purpose there can be no better safeguard than the sound judgment of J. S. Anderson, who has had a thorough knowledge of the business. He is among the largest dealers in this city, and has a large quantity of city and farm property on his books for disposal at all times. He has made it a special point to secure the very best property for disposal, and his sales have invariably been on the most liberal terms. Thorough reliability has at all times characterized his dealings, and never has an inch of property passed from his hands, the title of which was shaded by any doubt; and above all, the property, its present condition and future advantages were fully explained to the purchaser in a strictly conscientious and truthful manner. He makes a specialty of desirable city property, suitable alike for business and residence, and has many lots that are particularly desirable in location, price and terms. In farm property he is enabled to offer rare bargains in some of the choicest of this state, together with the best property in the western states. He loans money for capitalists on first mortgage security, and in this way has not only assisted many worthy people in this vicinity out of temporary embarrassment, but has also turned the attention of prominent parties to the availability of investments in this vicinity, and thus has been a beneficial factor in the prominent advancement of this section.

Anderson is assisted by his brother, Mr. P. V. Anderson, a most able and efficient young gentleman, and all business entrusted to their careful hands will receive the promptest attention, and they will guarantee satisfaction in every instance. His office is located in room No. 2, Carpenter block on the bridge. To the Gazette readers who have property for sale or those who desire to purchase we will say call on Mr. Anderson.

TRADE AND TRAFFIC

Circumstances That Make Janesville a Natural Business Center.

IT'S RICH TRIBUTARY COUNTRY.

There is Nothing Lacking To Make This a Headquarters for Manufacturers—A Glance at the Shipping Facilities—It's a Railroad Center.

As we have before stated, the business of our city has been remarkably steady and uniform, and its profits remunerative. It is drawn from a large scope of rich and well improved lands and scores of small villages surrounding the city, and getting access to its markets by many miles of good public roads and railroads reaching out in every direction. The railroads centering here give employment to a large force of persons, who are paid a large amount in wages monthly, and which amount is spent almost entirely in the city. The mercantile business is chiefly carried on, but it also supports several jobbing houses, and the business of these firms is quite extensive. It may be remarked that in the opinion of many sagacious business men the development and increase of our wholesale trade is close at hand and promises rich returns to those who will undertake it. The prosperous banking institutions of the city earn a large and liberal financial accommodation to our business men. They have been and are a large factor in the growth and prosperity of our city. Janesville has many large manufacturing plants, and the value of their annual products will figure up millions of dollars. Among them are large cotton and woolen mills, agricultural implement manufacturers, flouring mills, sash, door and blind factories, carriage works, machine shops, foundries, furniture factories, barb wire works, shoe factories, shoe factories, knitting works, etc., etc. Some of the products of these establishments are sent to all parts of this country, and also to Europe.

Still Room For More.

Now what we want is more factories and our people will aid in the establishment of all well intended enterprises. There are plenty of grand sites for manufacturing purposes. We are safe in asserting that there is no more desirable place in the state than Janesville. Parties coming here with a view of locating will be cheerfully shown the various attractions and many advantages, by our citizens, manufacturers and capitalists if you are contemplating a change, do not be backward about coming among us. You will find the latch-string out. You will find it a busy city and its population industrious and thrifty, "redeeming the time" at its command.

The hotels of Janesville are known in good repute far and wide, and have done much to give the city a good name abroad.

A handsomely arranged opera house takes rank well up with the hotels and other attractions of the city.

The press has been no small factor in the growth and prosperity of the city and county, and is in the front rank of their progress. It is composed of two dailies and five weeklies, all of which are well conducted. The press of Janesville will in the future as in the past, keep at the head of the procession, omitting no opportunity to contribute to its progress and welfare, and keeping equal to every requirement of the situation.

Railroad Facilities.

No other cause has contributed so much to the prosperity of Janesville as its railroad facilities, and there is no more important element in its hopes of future advancement. They open the markets and resources of the world to the energy and enterprise of its people. They bring buyers to its markets and carry its surplus products to the buyers of other markets. A glance at the map shows that our city is preeminently a railroad center. Its lines reach out in all possible directions. To look at them and study them with their connecting and operating powers, is to decide that little if anything more could be desired in the way of railway facilities. The vast network of the entire railway system of the state concentrates in one of its centers at our doors. We have felt the impulse and benefit of these unsurpassed facilities, and yet we scarcely touch them. They are practically unlimited and inexhaustible. A thousand fold an increase of our present production would not crowd them. They are open to the world and we invite and urge the attention of the world to their advantages. They are the key-note of our claims upon the consideration of men of business energy and enterprise, as a city inviting population and working for prosperity. They are the backbone of our hopes for the future of Janesville.

Can Be Seen at a Glance.

We might add columns showing the advantages of our railway facilities, but we deem this brief sketch will be sufficient to convince any reader that our facilities for expeditions travel and transportation could not be much greater than are now furnished by the Chicago & Northwestern, and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroads.

In conclusion, we will say that we have endeavored to present Janesville just as it is, without undue partiality or exaggeration. Its heavy set and home have been dwelt upon at some length, as they undoubtedly constitute a large part of its claims upon the consideration of those to whom this writing may appeal. They are a large factor in the list of its attractions. But we submit that a candid investigation of its resources, inducements and facilities as a business and industrial point will show as much in its favor as its home and other advantages. We court, invite and urge an inspection of all matters set forth. Come and see for yourselves, and we confidently believe that after seeing you will be ready to say "The half has not been told."

DR. W. O. COFFEY.

OCCIDENTAL AND AUSTIN, NO. 8 SOUTH
FRANKLIN STREET.

Sight and hearing are unquestionably the two greatest natural gifts of mankind, although in the hurry and bustle of every day life, these invaluable boons are perhaps never fully appreciated excepting in the event of temporary loss. In early times there was a little or no hope for a person whose sight or hearing had become impaired, and there was no thought of relief for those whose affliction dated from birth. Within a com-

and bright. It is in fact, unnecessary for us to devote any space to the Edison light, for it is familiarly known, and its worth appreciated all over the United States. Mr. Coffey will also furnish power for manufacturing purposes, also for heating, and is prepared to offer extraordinary inducements to all. He has already a large number of patrons, and the list will be greatly increased when his plant is in complete working order, which we have no doubt will in every way fulfill the expectations of the public and practically corroborate the promise of the proprietor. Mr. Coffey is in the first rank of the progressive and public spirited citizens of Jamesville. He possesses a keen business taste and a liberality that makes him not only a filling but anxious to foster beneficial industries. In conclusion the Gazette wishes him much success in his new enterprise. His office is located at No. 12 West Milwaukee street, with Messrs. Smith & Gately.

SCHLITZ BREWING COMPANY.

EPHRAIM BOOTS, AGENT, NO. 156 WALL STREET.—A GREAT INDUSTRY.

The steady increase in the capacity of our American breweries is a strong argument in favor of the general assertion that the consumption of beer as a beverage is becoming more general from year to year. The city of Milwaukee has long since been regarded as the greatest beer brewing center in the world. The Schlitz Brewing Company is one of the largest. The numerous buildings and yards of this famous company occupy an area of sixteen squares, which does not include ice houses or bottling establishments. The brew house of the company has a capacity of 1,000,000 barrels per annum, equal, if not superior to any brewery in the United States. The structure is entirely fire-proof, five stories in height, exclusive of two basements, making it the most perfect of its kind in existence. The extent of business transacted may be imagined from the fact that the company has a regular trade, not only throughout the United States, but also in Australia, South America, China, Mexico and Central America. The output in bottled goods for 1890 reached the colossal figure of 21,000,000 quarts and pints, which in connection with the hundreds of thousands of barrels and kegs also consumed enough to furnish the Gazette readers with drink for a year. Everything about this wonderful concern is suggestive of bustle combined with a perfect system. From the palatial office building, with its many departments down to the lowest subordinate, harmony prevails. All that modern science, here or abroad can devise for economizing labor or improving the quality of product is at once adopted by the Schlitz Brewing Company. This is to be seen in the imported ice machines on the ammonia and salt principle, which does away with ice and controls the temperature in the cooling rooms, by a system of pipes containing the cold fluid. This business was founded in 1849, and incorporated in 1875. Five hundred men are employed in the brewery proper, while four hundred more find employment in the bottling works, and the amount of wages paid out annually footed up to $500,000. This famed brewery is represented in our city by Ephraim Boots who established this branch in 1882. He handles nothing but the products of this establishment, and at his head quarters, No. 156 Wall street, he has every convenience at hand from the prompt fulfillment of all orders. The premises occupied comprise a large frame building, two stories in height 30x80 feet in dimensions, which contains his neat office, storage room, refrigerator, etc. Boots supplies the trade in this section. He receives the beer in refrigerators cars, which are owned by the company, and the great success of this agency is due to his energy and enterprise and superior quality of goods handled. The business is rapidly increasing and the large tin signs bearing the company's trade mark are finding new roosting places every day.

In conclusion we would observe that the beer handled by this responsible gentleman has met with the approbation of the best judges, while physicians recommend it as a pure and healthy beverage, devoid of adulteration or any deleterious elements.

A NOTED SPECIALIST.

DR. CLARK A. MINER, LOCATED IN NEW QUARTERS, CORNER HIGH AND CENTER STREETS.

One of Jamesville's leading physicians, whose reputation and practice as a specialist extends into many surrounding states, is Dr. C. A. Miner. Few physicians have had better educational advantages, and few have more thoroughly improved them. He at all times was an ardent student, as well as an original investigator. He has attained a celebrity for the successful treatment of catarrh, throat and lung troubles, as well as the treatment of all classes of female diseases, whether of the usual character, or of the most aggravated and chronic type. He successfully treats nervous, respiratory, circulatory, digestive, blood and skin diseases, and consumption according to his method of treatment can be cured. His high standing is well attested by current reports, wherever he is known, and also by the honorable mention he has many times received in the list of remarkable cures effected, in the leading journals of this country. It is a fact beyond all question that his monosopathic system for the treatment of the nose, throat, lungs and female diseases is worthy of special note and the attention of all who may be afflicted with either of this class of diseases, who may not only in every instance be afforded great relief, but completely restored to health. Dr. Miner has made many important discoveries in the nature and treatment of many diseases, and his success in his special line of practice has certainly been remarkable. He has had thirty-five years of experience in this city and ten years prior thereto he has not lost a case. This is something truly remarkable, and a record possessed by few physicians of this day. He is prepared to give electric, dry, and all kinds of medicated baths. He cures polli and other diseases of the spine, in which branch he is eminently successful. He has succeeded in securing the services of the matron of one of the best Sanitariums in the country, who will give ladies the Massage treatment or Swedish treatment. There is not a member of the medical fraternity in the state who stands higher in the estimation of the community, or in the confidence of the public than does Dr. C. A. Miner, and he is enjoying a practice second to none in the state.

Dr. Miner in order to facilitate his extensive practice has moved his headquarters to the corner of High and Center streets, one of the most desirable and quiet locations in the city. This spacious mansion is supplied with every requisite for the ease and comfort of patients. His office hours are from 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., and 8 to 9 p. m., while outside of these hours he makes calls to all parts of the city. Socially Dr. Miner is what one would expect to find, in a gentleman in all that the term applies, and a physician who is an honor and a credit to his profession in every possible respect.

paratively few years, however, diseases of the eye and ear have received the studious attention of eminent physicians, and the cures that are now effected by the specialists in this department of medical science, border upon the miraculous, and would certainly have been considered so at an earlier period. One of the leading exponents of this important profession in this country is Dr. W. O. Coffey (whose portrait appears in this sketch). Dr. Coffey was born in Blandville, Kentucky, in 1859, where he attended the public schools, and afterwards attended the schools of Lexington. He then attended the Missouri Medical College of St. Louis, from which institution he graduated with high honors in 1881. He then returned to his birth place, and commenced the general practice of medicine, which he continued for a period of two years. Realizing the wide field open for a specialist in this branch of science, he ultimately resolved to devote to it his entire time and attention, and, in order to thoroughly perfect himself in all pertaining to the profession, he availed himself of a thorough course of instruction at the Post Graduate School of New York City. Through studios application, assisted by a natural aptitude, he soon acquired a practical and skillful knowledge of the profession, and, after one year, he commenced practice and conducted a private hospital in Louisville, where he soon attained a wide reputation as a skillful specialist of eye, ear, nose and throat. January 1, 1889, he disposed of his practice in Louisville and removed to Chicago, where he again took another course at the Post Graduate School of that city. In the spring of 1890, he came to this city, and established his office with which he has since been so prominently identified. In his practice, he has become justly famous throughout this entire section of the country, and his remarkable cures, in many instances, have excited the wonder and admiration of scientific circles. His patients come from remote parts of the country, and we could furnish a long list of testimonials, if space would permit, from those who have been restored to sight and hearing, and the wonderful cures effected in throat and nose troubles through his skillful treatment. It is scarcely necessary to say that Dr. Coffey is generally esteemed in the community, and regarded as what he undoubtedly is—an eminent savant in his line, and a public benefactor. In conclusion, The Gazette will advise all who are afflicted with eye, ear, nose and any throat trouble to consult Dr. Coffey, feeling assured that the same will prove to their advantage.

A BEAUTIFUL SUBURB.

OVERLOOKING THE CITY AND COMMANDING
A GRAND VIEW—FOREST PARK ADDITION.

This beautiful piece of suburban property is of all, the fairest as to native embellishment, eligibility and ease of access, being favorably located high, dry and unsurpassed for sanitation within the city limits, and possesses all of the advantages of down town property, being situated in the southeast part of the city, and for health and beauty is the equal of any plat of its size in the state. The cheerful and healthful advantage of this charming spot cannot be disputed, and it will soon be sought as the most desirable residence portion of the city, owing to its elevation, convenience to the business center, schools, churches and excellent water. The prices for lots in this desirable location are extremely reasonable and the terms easy, thus affording no excuse to any one for not owning a beautiful home in a most delightful region. This vicinity is populated by a most desirable class of residents, and fourteen new buildings have already been completed, while there are more in course of erection. The streets are wide, graded and laid out with reference to the main thoroughfares of the city. In short, Forest Park is one of the most seductive suburban spots, and this summer will dot its old oak shaded streets with many cottages and substantial residence. To enumerate all the features of this addition would require more space than we can devote, and even if we had it must be seen to be appreciated, and to our readers we suggest go and look for yourselves and then apply to Mr. I. C. Brownell, corner Court and Main streets, for terms; prices, etc.

THE NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT.

H. A. DOTY LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY.

The most important factor of modern times in every branch of science and mechanics, is electricity. This great unseen power is overthrowing all other mechanical agents. The horse car is rapidly being superseded by the electric street railway. Motive power of all kinds is being furnished by electricity, while for a number of years electric light has been rapidly overstepping all other illuminants, and where the electric light shines for all, there is always sure to be a municipality of metropolitan attributes. H. A. Doty, one of our most enterprising citizens could not brook the idea of allowing our city to be a stranger to the brilliancy of the incandescent lights, and with the enterprise so characteristic of him he at once arranged, and has now completed one of the most perfect electrical plants in the state, in which the Edison system is used. He will furnish incandescent and are lights, and they will be fully the equal of any electric illumination in the country, being strong, clear and bright. It is in fact, unnecessary for us to devote any space to the Edison light, for it is familiarly known, and its worth appreciated all over the United States. Mr. Doty will also furnish power for manufacturing purposes, also for heating, and is prepared to offer extraordinary inducements to all. He has already a large number of patrons, and the list will be greatly increased when his plant is in complete working order, which we have no doubt will in every way fulfill the expectations of the public and practically corroborate the promise of the proprietor. Mr. Doty is in the first rank of the progressive and public spirited citizens of Jamesville. He possesses a keen business taste and a liberality that makes him not only a filling but anxious to foster beneficial industries. In conclusion the Gazette wishes him much success in his new enterprise. His office is located at No. 12 West Milwaukee street, with Messrs. Smith & Gately.

SCHLITZ BREWING COMPANY.

EPHRAIM BOOTS, AGENT, NO. 156 WALL STREET.—A GREAT INDUSTRY.

The steady increase in the capacity of our American breweries is a strong argument in favor of the general assertion that the consumption of beer as a beverage is becoming more general from year to year. The city of Milwaukee has long since been regarded as the greatest beer brewing center in the world. The Schlitz Brewing Company is one of the largest. The numerous buildings and yards of this famous company occupy an area of sixteen squares, which does not include ice houses or bottling establishments. The brew house of the company has a capacity of 1,000,000 barrels per annum, equal, if not superior to any brewery in the United States. The structure is entirely fire-proof, five stories in height, exclusive of two basements, making it the most perfect of its kind in existence. The extent of business transacted may be imagined from the fact that the company has a regular trade, not only throughout the United States, but also in Australia, South America, China, Mexico and Central America. The output in bottled goods for 1890 reached the colossal figure of 21,000,000 quarts and pints, which in connection with the hundreds of thousands of barrels and kegs also consumed enough to furnish the Gazette readers with drink for a year. Everything about this wonderful concern is suggestive of bustle combined with a perfect system. From the palatial office building, with its many departments down to the lowest subordinate, harmony prevails. All that modern science, here or abroad can devise for economizing labor or improving the quality of product is at once adopted by the Schlitz Brewing Company. This is to be seen in the imported ice machines on the ammonia and salt principle, which does away with ice and controls the temperature in the cooling rooms, by a system of pipes containing the cold fluid. This business was founded in 1849, and incorporated in 1875. Five hundred men are employed in the brewery proper, while four hundred more find employment in the bottling works, and the amount of wages paid out annually footed up to $500,000. This famed brewery is represented in our city by Ephraim Boots who established this branch in 1882. He handles nothing but the products of this establishment, and at his head quarters, No. 156 Wall street, he has every convenience at hand from the prompt fulfillment of all orders. The premises occupied comprise a large frame building, two stories in height 30x80 feet in dimensions, which contains his neat office, storage room, refrigerator, etc. Boots supplies the trade in this section. He receives the beer in refrigerators cars, which are owned by the company, and the great success of this agency is due to his energy and enterprise and superior quality of goods handled. The business is rapidly increasing and the large tin signs bearing the company's trade mark are finding new roosting places every day.

In conclusion we would observe that the beer handled by this responsible gentleman has met with the approbation of the best judges, while physicians recommend it as a pure and healthy beverage, devoid of adulteration or any deleterious elements.

Dr. Coffey will also furnish power for manufacturing purposes, also for heating, and is prepared to offer extraordinary inducements to all. He has already a large number of patrons, and the list will be greatly increased when his plant is in complete working order, which we have no doubt will in every way fulfill the expectations of the public and practically corroborate the promise of the proprietor. Mr. Coffey is in the first rank of the progressive and public spirited citizens of Jamesville. He possesses a keen business taste and a liberality that makes him not only a filling but anxious to foster beneficial industries. In conclusion the Gazette wishes him much success in his new enterprise. His office is located at No. 12 West Milwaukee street, with Messrs. Smith & Gately.

OUR FINANCES.

The United States Treasurer's Statement Shows an Apparent Deficiency of $787,108.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The United States treasurer's statement just issued, but bearing date June 17, shows an apparent deficiency of $787,108. This, however, does not include $23,627,419.

posited with national banks and $20,220,050 of fractional silver. Including these two items the cash balance is $43,061,264. Officials of the secretary's office say that exclusive of national bank deposits and fractional silver there is an actual available balance of $2,818,000 in the treasury, and that the treasurer's statement, including the receipts to that date, will show it. There will be a constant excess of receipts over expenditures during the remainder of the month, and it is estimated that the net surplus will be at least $7,000,000 by the first of July.

Treasury officials are not disturbed by the situation and say that the government is amply able to meet all its obligations.

MANY FAVOR ANNEXATION.

Coffee Planters in Guatemala Would Like to Be Ruled by Uncle Sam.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 20.—A Guatemalan correspondent says that an investigation shows that among coffee planters in Guatemala there is a decided feeling in favor of annexation to the United States, but that officials do not share this feeling, which has existed for many years, and is no stronger now than when first brought out by Antonio Taborda in 1870. President Barillas and his immediate adherents are favorably inclined toward the United States, but the president's desire seems to be to finish his term peacefully.

Blow Up the Courthouse.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 20.—Thursday the lower part of the new stone courthouse at Liberty fell in, crushing out the front of the building and causing a loss of $20,000. It has been discovered that the collapse was the result of a dynamite explosion. Several citizens saw the flash at the time and three men were seen making their escape in the darkness. There has been a bitter feeling against the building of this courthouse and it is supposed that the feeling expressed itself in dynamite as described.

Germany Is Anxious.

LONDON, June 20.—Berlin advises say that a ministerial conference was held Thursday, the recognition of the Chilean insurgents being the subject of discussion, although no decision was arrived at. It is said that the course of the United States in regard to the Itals has aroused deep anxiety in Berlin, it being feared that Balmaceda's government will make more favorable commercial conditions for the United States, to the detriment of the European countries.

Charged with a Terrible Crime.

COON RAPIDS, Ia., June 20.—The coroner's jury that has been investigating the accident of Tuesday night on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, in which two persons were killed, returned a verdict that the accident was caused by a criminal placed on the guard rail by parties yet unknown to the jury. A discharged Italian laborer who has made threats against the company and is under suspicion, has been arrested by order of the coroner.

Heavy Verdict Against a Railroad.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 20.—In the case of Frank G. Eggleston vs. the Kansas railway and Beatrice railway for $49,000 damages, through his losing both arms at the shoulders while in the employ of the road as a brakeman in this city in October last, a jury awarded a verdict for plaintiff of $18,000. The road will appeal the case.

Left an Estate Exceeding $5,000,000.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The will of Cord Meyer, the millionaire sugar refiner, who died a few days ago at his home in Mesquite, L. I., was admitted to probate Friday by Surrogate Weller, of Queens county. The estate is divided equally between his five children. Each share will exceed $1,000,000.

Turners Gathering at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 20.—Turner societies are meeting in Indianapolis, and they have been received with much ado by the local organizations. The societies now here are from Memphis, Louisville, Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati, Peoria, Moline, Quincy and Pekin. The contests will begin to-day.

Immigrants Flooding In.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., June 20.—Thousands of immigrants are crossing at this point monthly. They are not examined as to their means of support, and no one knows whether they should be classed as paupers or not, as the government has no immigrant inspectors at this point.

EVERY NOW AND THEN PEOPLE.

EVERY think of how they might have been benefitted if they had done differently; of how many steps would have been saved if they had taken the shortest route; of how much they would have profited if they had paid a few cents more and got a good article, instead of taking the cheaper; for example: suppose you pay 20c for a pair of gloves, said to be just as good as others ask 25 cents for; but you are deceived, you soon have to buy another pair, thus expending 40 cents. Your neighbor comes to us, pays us 25 cents, gets a good pair, and actually gets more wear and more comfort out of the investment, and thus saves 15 cents. Who is ahead? Does it pay to buy shoddy? Draw your own conclusion.

EVERY CITY HAS ITS REPRESENTATIVE.

EVERY representative dry goods store, and Jamesville is no exception. Why are we the recognized headquarters? Look at the size of our store, at the size of our stock at the volume of the business we do. How did we acquire such a foothold? By doing business on strictly business principles, by misrepresenting no goods, by being accommodating, by studying the interests of the people and keeping what they want. Acquaint yourself with our way of conducting a dry goods store by trading with us and see how you come out.

SPECIAL-100 LINEN DUSTERS.

worth $2.00, to be closed out at 50c each; if you do not want them for dusters, the linen in them can be made into children's dresses, and used for many other purposes.

Children's Hose,

Shirt Waists,

Children's Suits,

Children's Hats.

We want to say a few words in regard to our Children's and Boys' department. It is not generally known that we keep in stock LONG HOSE FOR BOYS. These hose, running in sizes from 7 to 9½, and prices from 10 cents to 50 cents, are remarkably good for the price. We think you would be satisfied also, should you see them, that our SHIRT WAISTS, both blouse and button, are the best that can be found in the city at the prices we ask. In CHILDREN'S SUITS, ages 4 to 14 years, both in two and three pieces, we think we lead. It is a gratification to have our customers come in and say, as they often do, that they have seen nothing so good at any other place for the money. This of course is to be expected, as we manufacture them and save you one profit.

Our stock of HATS is large and low in price, and we are also well supplied with SAILOR COLLARS, white and fancy, and we think that if you will be convinced that we are at all times up to the mark on these goods.

A GREETING.

The object of this edition of The Gazette is to present in a brief but carefully prepared statement the advantages possessed by Janesville as a center of production and distribution, and the attractions of the city as a place of residence. It is further designed to show that it is a city presenting great inducements, and offering every encouragement for the inauguration of new manufacturing and other enterprises, and that those who are seeking locations for the profitable investment of capital will be warmly welcomed. The effort has been to produce an issue that will not only be a credit to our city, but also to ourselves. As the edition is intended for general circulation it will undoubtedly become the medium through which the interests of Janesville will be promoted by establishing more intimate business relations with other parts of the country. To this end it is respectfully requested that those into whose hands it may fall will place it where the best results may emanate from its perusal.

Our growth has been steady and permanent. It represents not only an access of population but also a corresponding advancement in all departments of the city's progress, and especially in the increase of homes, handsome business blocks, manufacturing establishments and public improvements. It is a fact worthy of note in this connection that the country round about the city has kept pace fully with the growth of the city. It is a country rich in splendidly improved farms, fertility of soil and power and regularity of production. As a rule the farmers are prosperous, out of debt, and have money to invest. The natural advantages of the locality have been developed into comfort, wealth and even luxury. If the worthy founder of our city, who saw some of its growth, and believed in so much more could stand upon one of the hills to-day and look over the city and country spreading out before him, he would say that his brightest dreams have been more than realized.

A Tribute to Mrs. McKinley.

Mrs. McKinley is another of the ladies who, like Mrs. Harrison, favor American silks and employ home dressmakers. Through an invalid and much confined public, the wife of the distinguished Ohio protectionist is one of the daintiest of women in matters of dress. She has a particular fondness for soft silks in pale shades of blue and delicate grays, and while these are made with every regard for ease and comfort they are always well fitted, trim and stylish. In spite of her long years of suffering and semi-imprisonment in their Ohio home and at the Ebbitt House in Washington, Mrs. McKinley retains much of the beauty that made her a belle in Canton twenty years ago, and, unlike so many women in a similar delicate state of health, she has never lost her pleasure in pretty gowns and pride of personal appearance. Rather mightily, one says that she has never lost the desire to delight her husband's eye and win his admiration.

In matters of dress, as well as in every other detail of her circumscribed life, her approval and pleasure are her only consideration, and when that grave, handsome lover has expressed his pleasure that particular gown becomes a favorite costume. It is almost impossible to speak of this couple without reference to the mutual devotion that is a perpetual marvel to the members of our restless, misnamed condition.

It is safe to say that in the length and breadth of the land cannot be found the wife of any man so cherished, the husband of any woman so adored, nor is there a woman of radiant health and loveliness who quenches it in the world who carries a more quiet heart or drinks more deeply of the joy of living than this invalid of many years shut out from the world and its thousand interests. It is good to have seen such a pair once in a lifetime. It is a good thing to have a reasonable doubt as to whether marriage is a failure.—Florence Huntley.

No Golden Club Banquet This Year.

And now we learn that the Cobden club has given up its annual dinner this year. No reasons are given, but of course there are reasons. A banquet is generally a time of roasting, and a Cobden club banquet in 1891, when free-trade is in disgrace the world over, would be rather a misnomer. But with the announcement that the banquet was abandoned comes the news that the work of educating uncivilized countries like the United States is still to go on. Through their agents in this country pamphlets on the evils of Protection will continue to be spread over the west. One more effort will be made to influence a "robbed" and "tax burdened" people to adopt the policy of Cobden and Bright—then they will have their banquet. But will they have it?

Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor.

For the annual convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, which will be held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, July 9 to 12, the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. will sell excursion tickets to Minneapolis and return at half rates—one fare for the round trip. For dates of sale, limits of tickets, etc., apply to agents C. & N. W. R'y.

THE LION OR THE EAGLE?

Is Americanism to be the issue in the coming campaign?
The American Economist has the following spirited editorial in a recent issue:
Are the people of these United States of America to produce what we use, or are foreign nations to do our work for us? Are we to be an independent people, or are we to be dependent for our supplies on other nations in general, and Great Britain in particular?
If these questions have not received sufficient emphasis during the last few weeks we propose to raise them so emphatically that our mugwump friends will not be able to sneak away without an answer, and that answer must be unequivocal. If the Anglo-Americans can afford to make Americanism the coming issue we can afford to have them. A column of sneers at American products may satiate a few of the readers of the New York Times; paragraphs belittling American manufactures may tickle a few of those who stroke the lion's mane with the editor of the Post; but do loyal, patriotic Democrats want to be numbered among this band of commercial sneak thieves, who would hand over our industries to that notorious "fence" known as the British crown?
On the editorial page of the New York Times last Sunday appeared a reprint from an obscure sheet denouncing the Sun for giving a good report of the Tariff League banquet, and calling particular attention to its American features. This report appeared under the following headlines:
"Thoroughly American. Unique banquet of the Protective Tariff League. Celebrating glories of the tariff. Major McKinley describes its benefits to the people. The speakers and their sentiments, too, were American through and through."

Ben Trevato.

You say you love me (but how well I know It is not true!) I smile and press your clinging fingers, so, With "And I love you."
It is a lie—a pretty lie, I swear: For I have been Once on the heights of perfect love, and there The glories seen.
And this—this playing at a tenderness So trifling seems, When I remember all the storm and stress Of old dreams!
Oh, what divine and splendid dawns were those, When love was true! Oh, how the crimson, tropic sun arose—The heavens—how blue!
Oh, how our hearts were throbbing all day long, Till twilight came, Oh, how our breath was hushed to hear the song Of nightingale!
You say you love me—shyly looking down—Your face is fair, There are no sweeter eyes than yours of brown: Soft is your hair.
You could be happy, in a quiet way, Just at my side; You are so faithful and so meek today, So satisfied!
Perhaps you could be, . . . and we might be glad, But somehow, still, At times the pines of my heart run mad With the old thrill.
I suffer, suffer! . . . Then the pain is over. I turn to you, And smile and say, "You are so sweet!" once more.
And this . . . is true! —Cecil Charles.

Moist Eastern.

I had a beautiful garment And I laid it by with care; I folded it close, with tender leaves, In a napkin fine and fair. 'Tis far too costly a robe," I said, "For one like me to wear."
So never at morn or evening I put my garment on; It lay by itself, under clasp and key, In the perfume-dusk alone—its wonderful brocade hidden Till many a day had gone.
There were guests who came to my portal, There were friends who sat with me, And clad in soberest raiment I bore their company. I knew I owned a beautiful robe, Though its splendor none might see.
There were poor who stood at my portal, There were orphaned sought my care; I gave them the tenderest pity, But had nothing besides to spare. I had only the beautiful garment, And the raiment for daily wear.
At last, on a feast day's coming, I thought in my dream to-day I would please myself with the luster Of its shifting colors then I would walk with pride in the marvel Of its rarely rich design.
So out of the dust I bore it—The lavender fell away—And fold on fold I held it up To the searching light of day. Alas! the glory had perished While there in its place it lay.
Who seeks for the fadeless beauty Must seek for the use that it seals, To the grace of a constant blessing, The beauty that use reveals, For into the faded robe alone The moth with its blighting steals. —Margaret E. Sangster.

The Saddest Thing.

Quarrels come, and the day turns dark; Partings are, and the parted moan Death stalks by, and a body stark; Love where love once claimed its own But the saddest thing is a love outworn.
A word, and the quarrel's smooth again; A time, and the parted clasp and kiss And even death is eased of pain By hope of a reunited bliss; But a love outworn is a script of this.
'Tis the living form and the heart long dead; 'Tis the fondling hands, yet the soul alone 'Tis the trick to walk bride-garmented With dust and ashes on us thrown— The saddest thing is a love outworn. —Richard E. Burton.

The Secret.

She pines in her beauty bright Among the mean, among the gay, And all are brighter for the sight, And bless her as she goes her way.
And now a beam of pity pours, And now a spark of spirit flies, Uncounted, from the unlocked stores Of her rich lips and precious eyes.
And all men look, and all men smile, But no man looks on her as I; They mark her for a while, But I will watch her till I die. —Cosmo Monkhouse.

Old Time Songs.

The songs we used to sing? Ah, me! I love them, and I could bring My voice then back, sweet notes to sing. To the air about with an anthem ring Of sweetest melody.
The songs we used to sing? Ah, me! Their music fills my heart with tears, For those lost hopes of long gone years, That Time's eternal river bears On to Eternity.
The songs we used to sing? Ah, me! In dreams I hear each tender strain, In mystic minor sung again— I wake, and die the sweet refrain To all but memory. —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A little rule, a little way, A sunbeam in a winter's day, Is all the good and mighty have Between the cradle and the grave. —John Dyer.

Wiser Than He Knows.

A little Shaggy boy, writing an essay on Justice, said: "Justice is a blind. Money men spoil Justice with a little gold."—American Grocer.
"Dinner for Two—Appetite for One." Said a dyspeptic to the waiter, ordering for self and friend. And suppose he had had an appetite, it would have agonized him, subsequently to gratify it. Of the abominable pangs that even a little meal causes the purgative victim of indigestion. Conformed to earth—no less. Altogether unneccessary, though. Begin at once, systematically, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, ye unfortunate sufferers with refractory stomachs. In saying this we merely echo the recorded experience of thousands who have used the great stomachic to their lasting benefit. For the injection of sluggish liver, and for tardy or irregular action of the bowels both very apt to accompany dyspepsia this fine regulator is equally efficient. Malarial complaints, kidney trouble rheumatism and neuralgia depart when a resort is had to the Bitters.

"Thoroughly American. Unique banquet of the Protective Tariff League. Celebrating glories of the tariff. Major McKinley describes its benefits to the people. The speakers and their sentiments, too, were American through and through."

Then, says this obscure sheet, which

The Times so prominently indorses: "After this conspicuous illustration of its strong sympathy with the leading feature of modern Republican propaganda, it is difficult to conceive how The Sun, ever masquerading as a Democratic paper."
Is there any mistaking these words? The "leading feature" alluded to was the glorification of American institutions, of American labor, of American industry, of American progress. Is the Democratic party then to join the mugwump band of pirates who would infect the sea of our unparalleled prosperity, pull down the Stars and Stripes and raise the black flag of Free-trade and misery? Shades of Jefferson and Jackson and Randall forbid! But if it is to be so we want to know it, and we want the people to know it. Let the issue be made squarely and boldly. Let us have no more straddling. Is it to be America for Americans or is it to be British? The mask of "tariff reform" is too transparent for further use. If the following utterances from Congressman Johnson, of Ohio, express the sentiment of the Democratic party let them be proclaimed far and wide:
"I am a Free-trader because I am a Democrat."
I am for Mills, of Texas, for speaker of the house, because I want to have an out and out Free-trader take the chair held by Reed.
"Let Democratic leaders, then, be men. They acknowledge Free-trade in private, let them stop talking in public of percentages merely."
Unfold your flag, gentlemen, and let the colors be the same on both sides. Raise your emblem and let us hear whether it roars or screams. Are you for England or America?

THE RUSSIAN THRONE.

What if the Czarowitz Had Been Killed in Japan?

His Death Would Have Caused Great Confusion in St. Petersburg. Some of the Skeletons in the Closet of the Romanoff Family.

The czarowitz has escaped that premature death which seems so mysteriously to overtake the oldest sons of sovereigns. The firstborn of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria; of King Leopold of Belgium; of the late King William of Holland; of Napoleon III, of Napoleon I, of King Louis Philippe of France, and of Czar Alexander II—have each of them passed away before their time.

Had the Japanese assailant of the czarowitz been permitted to accomplish his purpose, says Harper's Weekly, the most terrible confusion would have arisen at St. Petersburg in connection with matters relating to the succession to the throne, for the emperor's second son is dying of consumption—the result, it is said, of a blow in the chest received in jest from the czarowitz, Alexander III. It may be mentioned here, in connection with the czarowitz's wife and his throne to a similar blow inflicted in play upon his older brother Nicholas, who died at Nice of consumption in 1885. The third and only remaining son of the emperor is the little Grand Duke Michel, a boy of twelve years of age, who, in the event of a demise of the crown, would require the guidance and guardianship of a regency until the expiration of his minority.

To whom would the regency belong? By right of primogeniture it should be vested in the hands of the czar's eldest brother, the Grand Duke Waldimir. But the latter is debarred by the statutes of the imperial house of Romanoff from holding any such office, as well as from succession to the throne in case of the death of his nephew. The cause for this disqualification is the Lutheran faith professed by his German wife—a woman of great beauty, strength of character and obstinacy. All efforts to induce her to join the orthodox church have proved fruitless, and even the knowledge that her refusal to abandon the Lutheran rite would cut off both her husband and herself from the line of succession has been able to make her give way in the matter. The next in order of seniority of the emperor's brothers is the Grand Duke Alexis—a man of magnificent presence, but of weak character, who enjoys neither the consideration nor the respect of his countrymen, and who has been repeatedly disciplined by both the late and the reigning czar for the discreditable intrigues with which he has from time to time permitted his name to become connected.

In official circles in Russia, it is believed that Alexander III, has already designated his brother, the Grand Duke Sergius, as regent in the event of the minority of his successor. Sergius is renowned for his fanaticism, and for his aversion to everything foreign. He is the acknowledged leader of the ultra-orthodox and old Russian element, and enjoys more than any other member of the imperial family the confidence and affection of the autocrat. The latter has recently conferred upon him the most important office of the empire, namely, that of governor general of Moscow, where he is now acquiring an unenviable notoriety by the shocking brutality with which his expulsion of the Jewish population of the locality is being carried into effect.

It is unlikely, however, that Sergius would be permitted to assume the regency without serious opposition on the part of his two elder brothers, Waldimir and Alexis, around whom would rally the more liberal and progressive members of the government and of the population. Indeed, if the necessity for a regency were to occur (and in view of the constant danger of assassination to which the czar and the czarowitz are exposed, it may happen at any time), the world would probably be called upon to witness, if not a civil and fratricidal war, at any rate a repetition of the terrorism and bloodshed which marked in 1885 the accession to the throne of Emperor Nicholas in lieu of his elder brother, the Czarowitz Constantine.

Weight of Ice on Trees. A gentleman of Brookline has sent to the Boston Transcript. Listing an account of a very interesting experiment in taking the weight of the ice upon tree branches during an ice-storm when the ice on the trees was at its maximum. This gentleman thus describes the result of his experiment: "A branch of this spruce which weighed one pound had five pounds of ice on it, and a branch of pine needles weighing one pound had twelve pounds of ice on it. I got these weights by taking the wood with the ice on it at first, and then taking the weight of wood after the ice had melted. This does not represent correctly the enormous strain or actual pressure exerted on the branches of trees by these ice-storms, but will easily account for the sad breakage of trees so common for the past few days, and the dangers from these ice-storms on both trees and wires."

THE NEW EXODUS.

Interesting Points About Baron Hirsch and His Predecessors.

Baron Hirsch, whose gigantic schemes for promoting a new exodus have been described, has hitherto been best known next to his financial operations—for his social ambitions. The way in which the prince of Wales has recently furthered the baron's wishes in this respect has, as every one knows, been the subject of much remark, not only in this country, but throughout the continent. Even, however, the interest in the baron's social ambitions is likely to pale before that in the scheme which he has now conceived for assuming the part of the modern Moses.

It may not be BARON HIRSCH, generally remembered, says the Pall Mall Budget, that some few years ago another wealthy financier projected a great exodus. This was Mr. Cazalet, who, unlike Baron Hirsch, proposed to take his countrymen back to the Holy Land. Negotiations were in progress with the ports for the necessary firm, and Mr. Cazalet had "planked down" one and a half millions for carrying out his scheme when he suddenly died, and all that remains of the projected exodus is a bonnet. This was said by, or fathered on, one of the English Rothschilds. He was asked, in connection with Mr. Cazalet's scheme, what he would do when all his countrymen returned to Palestine. "I should ask," he said, "for the appointment of a consul in London."

Baron Hirsch, the Moses of the new exodus, though an Austrian by birth, is best known in France. Spending the winter in the beautiful house he built for himself near the Parc Monceau, the baron used to give receptions which were much frequented by the imperial and Hohenzollern nobility. Since their only son's death Baron Hirsch and his wife lived mostly in France at Beauregard, a beautiful place near Versailles. But the baron's principal "seat" is in Moravia, where he entertains the prince of Wales with such profuse hospitality. Similarly in this country the baron runs huge showings of the surest means, as has been well said, for a rich man to make his way into English "society." In Paris, as is well known, the baron's attempts to buy himself in have not been equally successful.

Baron Hirsch's fortune is variously estimated from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000. His father was a Bavarian banker. The foundation of his fortune was a railway contract with the Turkish government. It has since been enlarged by other railway managements in eastern Europe and by speculations on the Paris Bourse. His son used to be a well-known figure at Newmarket, and the baron himself has of late years gone on the turf.

OLDEST LIVING TWINS.

The Distinction belongs to Two Ladies Living in New York State.

The oldest twins now living in the United States are Mrs. Lovisa Matzeoon and Mrs. Sally Clark, born at Rutland, Vt., in 1804, and consequently eighty-eight years of age at the present time. Their parents, named Flak, had twelve children—five boys and seven girls—several of whom died, but none below the age of eighty.

While one lived to be ninety-seven, the father died at ninety-five and Mrs. Flak at ninety-two. Mrs. Matzeoon has attended to the sick for fifty years, and still ministers to the afflicted. She had five children, and lives with one of the surviving three at Angola, N. Y. Her memory is remarkable, and she has a wonderful stock of reminiscences. Mrs. Clark lives with her children at Hamburg, N. Y., and she is hearty and vigorous.

Living but twenty miles apart the sisters are often together, and they never fail to meet on their birthday, which is pleasantly celebrated every year. The next oldest living twins in this country were born in Germany in 1804, and now reside in St. Cloud, Minn.

A Pigeon in a Courthouse. During a recent session of a Massachusetts court, an unusual visitor made his appearance, in the shape of a snow-white pigeon. It alighted first on the window sill, and when a tipstaff obligingly opened the window, the bird calmly walked in, with all the consequence of a lawyer. Some understating case was being argued, and, as the case walked the whole length of the courtroom, he was the observed of all observers. Pretty soon, as his acquaintance increased, he perched himself upon desks and, later, on the shoulder and head of the stenographer. It was not decided by the officials whether he had a case to try or was merely an interested spectator. Anyway, he was not molested, even when he mounted the judicial bench. There he sat, or stood, for nearly an hour, going to sleep at intervals, until he evidently made up his mind that justice was being properly dispensed, and then he made his exit, with great decorum.

The bishop of Litchfield, England, has started a crusade against what he calls "the deformation and degradation" of graveyards by the erection of the graves with artificial flowers. There is no accounting for taste. Bad taste and poverty can do nearly as absurd things as bad taste and riches.

KILLED BY A CORK.

The Peculiar Death of Rev. Bothwell, of Brooklyn.

A Medical Journal's Comments on the Case—Accidents of This Nature Are No Rare—Position of the Death—Dealing Cork.

Rev. George W. Bothwell, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died early in May from the effects of drinking accidentally imbibed a cork. The case became quickly celebrated, not, says the Health Monthly, because such accidents are rare, but because of the prominent position of the clergyman, and the efforts made by surgeons to save him. About a year ago medicine from a bottle he held the cork between his teeth, and being at the same time made to laugh by the antics of his child he took a quick, deep breath, and the cork went with the draught of air into the breathing tubes, and soon lodged as closely as in a bottle in one of the bronchial tubes leading to the middle portion of the left lung. Several attempts were made by competent surgeons to dislodge the cork, and a special corkscrew instrument was devised for the purpose, but the cork was too firmly imbedded in the bronchial mucous membrane, and post-mortem showed that the cork had become swollen all about the cork, so that its removal would have been impossible except very soon after its entrance. If the last attempt had been the first, and no time lost in making it, it is barely possible that surgery might have relieved the cork, and the victim of having been entered by the corkscrew and had been broken out by it. Its position had been accurately located. Not being removed, the cork caused local inflammation, formation of pus, blood-poisoning, heart failure and death after about six days of patient and courageous suffering.

Foreign bodies, such as false teeth, bones and coins have in some cases remained hidden and quiet in the lungs for several years, and been suddenly and unexpectedly coughed up again. So it is often a serious question what to do to operate or let alone. A study of 686 cases shows death in forty-one per cent. when no operation was performed, and in twenty-three per cent. after operation. In this late case the result of non-interference might have been better, but probably would not have been because the cork so perfectly plugged a tube, and thus became a very offensive foreign body.

A bullet shot into the soft lung tissue would be less aggravating or irritating than a soft cork thus situated. The location of the cork as found at the post-mortem examination is clearly shown in the accompanying illustration, which shows the larynx or voice box, the straight bronchial tube, and its bifurcations and larger branches. The amount of breathing surface cut off by this plug could have been spared, but the danger of doing nothing to remove it lay in the inflammatory action it could excite. It was a case in which the choice of either policy would be likely to make the surgeon wish he had done the other thing instead.

The case has interested physicians and the general public, and the victim of this unfortunate accident seems to have been needlessly killed in the midst of a life of health and activity. His experience affords but one lesson—that is, the wisdom of not making the mouth a handy receptacle for articles which if inhaled may as surely kill as a bullet shot into the lungs; but such fatal accidents are so uncommon and the mouth is so generally made useful in this way that it is doubtful if the sad fate of Mr. B. will be of any use as a warning—for more than a week and a day at all events. When articles are inhaled which do not fit the lung tubes so well as a cork, as collar buttons or beads, surgeons are often able by expert operations to get them out, but such operations are painful and tedious to both patient and surgeon, and one of the best things you can do with a button, a pin or a cork, is not to put it in your mouth.

A Mad Sculptor's Work. When the young sculptor, John B. Leoni, during a fit of temporary insanity, was held in waiting at the Burlington (N. J.) jail pending the results of inquiries as to his identity, he obtained possession of a common bar of washing soap and proceeded to astonish the jailers. With the nail of his index finger he began to dexterously carve the soap into the shape of the "human form." He worked within an incredibly short time, considering the magnitude of the undertaking and the unbalanced condition of his mind, had produced a wonderful model of an Alpine hunter. The figure, which is now carefully treasured, is said to be equal to anything ever executed by either Marvot or Ydrouquet. It represents a man with his right arm outstretched, the fingers of the hand encircling the neck of a duck, which is as carefully reproduced and as true to nature as the figure of the hunter. The left hand hangs by the hunter's side, holding a shotgun, while at his feet lies the figure of a dog, wistfully gazing at the game his master holds aloft. Taken all in all it is a most remarkable work of art.

Good Looks. Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered you have a dyspeptic look, and if your kidneys be affected you have a pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and tonic; acts directly on these vital organs. Cures pimples, blotches, boils, and gives a good complexion. Sold at W. T. Sherer & Co.'s drug store, 50 c per bottle.

A SCROFULOUS BOY.

Running Sores Covered His Body and Head, Bones Affected, Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

When six months old, the left hand of our little grandchild began to swell, and had every appearance of a large boil. We polished it, but it did not improve. About a month after it became a running sore. Soon other sores formed. He then had more and more sores on each hand, and as his blood became more and more impure, the sores on his face, neck, chest, back, and limbs, began to break out. A sore came on the chin, beneath the lower lip, which was very offensive. His head and neck were covered with discharging a great deal.

When I undertook the care of him, his mother having died when he was a little more than a year old, of consumption (scrofula, of course). He could walk a little, but could not get up if he fell down and could not move when in bed, having no use of his hands. I immediately commenced with CUTICURA REMEDIES, using all freely. One sore after another healed, a boy's matter forming in the five deep ones just before healing, which would finally grow large and were taken out then they would heal rapidly. One of these ugly lumps formations I preserved. After taking a dozen and a half bottles he was completely cured, and is now, at the age of six years, a strong and healthy child. MRS. E. BRIGGS, 612 Clay St., Bloomington, Ill. My grandson remains perfectly well. No signs of scrofula and no scars. FEBRUARY 7, 1891. MRS. E. S. BRIGGS, Bloomington, Ill.

MAP OF

GLEN-ETTA, RIVERVIEW PARK AND CARRINGTON, WHEELER & WHITEHEAD ADDITIONS

TO THE CITY OF JANESVILLE.

THE OLD CONSERVATIVES.

As they ride through Riverview Park and Glen-Etta all admit that these beautiful sections are no longer the coming residence sections of Janesville, but that they have already come; that they have gotten here with both feet, as it were.

With the promised progress there you will not be able to buy a lot in these two sections a year from now. Today prices up there are low, in fact, 25 per cent lower than you can buy elsewhere, with one-half the improvements and advantages you get there. As for that matter it is impossible to find elsewhere half as desirable lots at any price.

In these additions we have yet unsold a number of our choicest lots, and if you want a home now or in the future, and want it in the beautiful city of Janesville, and in the best part of the city, it behooves you to hustle around and get it while you can. Come in to our office and talk with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

A GROUND-HOG CASE.

It amounts to about that with us when we offer Spring Brook lots at present prices. With our numerous improvements now going forward; with the bridge under contract, and to which we are pledged to a large amount toward payment for it; with a contract out with Mr. Norcross to light the bridge and McKay Boulevard better than any other part of the city (except Riverview Park) is lighted; with the contracts out for the starting of the Hall factory, and many other improvements not yet made public, it amounts to a ground-hog case with us. We must sell some lots at Spring Brook; hence we offer them at this time at from 20 to 25 per cent less than they are worth. Investigate. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

A NICKLE IN THE SLOT

Will get many things, and it is just about as easy to get a home if you go to work right.

We will sell you a lot and build you a home for a very moderate cash payment down and take the rest in easy monthly payments and on long time. Payments so easy that you can pay for the home without hardly knowing you have done so. A man that pays rent in the city in which we live is simply doing himself an injustice and wronging his family. Any man who wants it and is willing to try to save his money can have a home. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

NO BOOM TOWN.

Janesville is most distinctively "no boom town." It is the most healthful in its growth of any city in the northwest. The two years past the growth has been the most marked in the history of the city. During this period there have been built several hundred homes and to-day there are not a dozen rentable houses in the city. Such a fact as this would alone show the quality of our growth, no boom, but a steady, healthful increase. To such an end as this our efforts for the past twenty months have been devoted, to a continuance of such results we have and shall always work. When it comes to booming a town, in the common understanding of that term we are "not in it." Give us a steady, healthful increase, give us just such results as you can see demonstrated in GLEN-ETTA and RIVERVIEW, and you give us our desires. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON, Dealers in Real Estate, "On the Bridge."

A FOREGONE CONCLUSION.

That our Third and Fourth ward properties embracing Spring Brook, Willow Grange, Riverside, Carrington, Wheeler and Whitehead, Add., Riverview Park, Glen-Etta and Forest Park include the cream of this city. Seek you homes, seek you for investment, seek you business sites either mercantile or manufacturing, for either large or small enterprises, if you seek elsewhere and not here you pass the best and take up inferior property. Whatever you seek in Janesville city real estate the place to seek it is at the office of Yours very truly, GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON, On the Bridge.

A LITTLE SUGGESTION.

To any man who is in the habit of smoking freely and drinking occasionally, and who sincerely desires to get a home for his family, we make this proposition: If you will pay us the same amount of money that you expend thus worse than uselessly, we will build you a home, and trust you till the money thus saved pays for it. Its a good way to get a home. There are several other ways just as easy and some of them faster.

Yours very truly, GEO. L. &amp; SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

SOME FEW THINGS

FASTEST THIS YEAR.

Prince M's Mile Causes Horsemen To Yell.

HE BROKE THE RECORD FOR 1891.

But He Couldn't Win the Purse—$10,000 Changed Hands on the Result of the Greatest Race Ever Trotted Over the Janesville Track.

A plump ten thousand changed hands on the 2:26 race yesterday. But that is not all.

People who saw the second heat in the race, witnessed the fastest heat yet trotted in the United States this season. Many of them did not realize it, but it is a fact nevertheless.

Phenomenal Performance.

A heat trotted in 2:19, over the heavy track of yesterday, was something marvelous. With a coating of mud and many soft spots in the track, fast time was not expected. When the trotters got the word they went off like a whirlwind.

When the judges caught the first quarter they looked at each other in surprise.

The stretch came the bay and the black. They were neck and neck, but the bay poked his nose under the wire ahead, and won the heat in the remarkable time of 2:19.

There Was Plenty of Money Up.

There is a question as to whether a more game race was ever trotted over the Janesville tracks than this one. It was a battle for blood. The judges stationed marshals at all portions of the track, and the contest was as square as a die. M. S. Sale, owner of Temple Bar, came all the way from Morganfield, Kentucky, to see Temple Bar trot, and back to his home in Illinois. It is estimated that fully $10,000 changed hands on the result.

A Battle Between Giants.

The fight was between Temple Bar and Prince M. Fredrick C. although he trotted each time, was not in the race, and barely saved being distanced in each heat. He held up until the last heat, and then he landed but a foot behind the flag, thus losing third money which he had already won. Horsemen claimed that Fredrick C was carrying too much weight, and it certainly looked that way.

Temple Bar's Great Burst of Speed.

It was in the third heat that Temple Bar showed his superior condition. The bay and the black were neck and neck all the way around to the three-quarter pole. When Temple Bar broke and fell far behind. Rounding the back turn was where Temple Bar showed his speed and stamina. He was fully twenty lengths behind Prince M. With the speed of a young cyclone the black flyer began closing the gap. When the stretch was reached he was hanging on Prince M's wheel. They were coming like an express train, the black having covered the twenty lengths in catching the leader by a tremendous burst of speed. Both of the trim built animals were going like clock work.

Or Perhaps Steam Engines.

Temple Bar was too much for Prince M. Still keeping up his burst of speed, he whizzed under the wire with Prince M. a close second and Fredrick C. trailing in the rear. A mighty cheer went up, and as Settle, Temple Bar's driver, resplendent in a light green jacket, red and dark green striped cap and white trousers dismounted from the sulky he was greeted with an ovation.

Next Heats Not So Hot.

Temple Bar took the next two heats, although Prince M. for company all the way around. The last heat was very close, the horses when they reached the stretch, going like a team. One blanket would have covered the both, but Prince M. could not hold the awful pace. He broke, and Temple Bar won on a jog. Such an exhibition of trotting will not be seen in Janesville for many days.

SUMMARY.

FOUNDED HIS MAN DEAD

Mayor St. John Met by a Startling Sight.

HIS HOSTLER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Chloroform Ends a Life That Had Been Robbed of Sunshine by Partial Loss of Sight and Hearing—"Don't Restore Me, I Am Better Dead."

When Dr. J. W. St. John went to his barn today he found his hired man cold and stiff in death.

The doctor leaves his residence, 165 South High street, at 8 o'clock in the morning for his down town office. This morning he was in some of a hurry to reach his office, and at 8 o'clock he looked out for his horse and buggy. Not seeing it in front as usual, he hurried to the barn to see what the trouble was. Entering the barn he found that his hired man, Randolph Rathbun, was dead.

"Don't Try to Restore Me."

On his bed, room door a note was pinned, requesting the doctor, in case he was found alive, to make no effort to restore him; that he wanted to die. "Tell my mother not to mourn for me, as I will be better off dead," he wrote.

He had some personal effects which he desired distributed among his relatives and friends, and a gold watch was given to a brother. He asked that his body be sent to his mother at Kibbourn City.

Blindness Caused His Death.

"Rathbun was a young man about twenty-two years old," said Mayor St. John. "He was partially deaf and almost blind, and was subject to spells of extreme melancholy. He had been at work for me for some time, and had a room fitted up in the barn. He was at one time at the School for the Blind. He took chloroform to kill himself, and had died during the middle of the night." Randolph had evidently secured a quantity of chloroform with which he saturated a sponge, and when he laid down he held this over his face.

No other cause is given for the self-destruction except that of melancholy caused by his loss of sight and hearing.

The body was turned over to F. D. Kimball, undertaker, and will be forwarded to Kibbourn City Monday morning.

A valuable and increasing list of patrons is drawn to its counters, the ability of the management and the high standing of its officers and directors giving every guarantee of the intelligent conservatism of all interests committed to their care. A commendable enterprise is tempered by a judicious and conservative policy, that peculiarly fits the institution for the prosecution of a safe and reliable business. Its officials are noted for their courtesy and promptness in the dispatch of business, thoroughly accommodating to patrons, and very popular with all who are brought into business relations with the bank. ## FIRE AT MARQUETTE

Nestor Block Destroyed, Causing a $150,000 Loss.

ONE FIREMAN LIKELY TO DIE.

Others Hurt by Falling Glass—Smoke Was So Dense as to Prevent Efficient Use of the Fire Apparatus—The Principal Losses

MARQUETTE, Mich., June 20.—Fire broke out shortly after 10 o'clock last night in the Nestor block on Washington street, one of the principal office buildings of the city. Firemen found it very difficult to get at the fire. The building rapidly filled with stifling smoke much faster than the work. For an hour the building seemed in no particular danger, but at 11:45 the flames began curling through the roof, and the whole building was doomed. The fault was not with the firemen, but with the defective construction of the building.

The loss is over $150,000. Ball & Hanson's law library, the finest one in the peninsula, and valued at $20,000 was entirely destroyed.

Captain C. Gooding, of the Morse hose company, and Fireman Silas Patience and Tim Meany were badly hurt by falling glass. Fireman Dan Mullaly was overcome by smoke and his recovery is doubtful.

HOW JANEVILLE IS LIGHTED.

NEW GAS LIGHT COMPANY OF JANEVILLE, H. MERRILL, SUPERINTENDENT.

The growth of the gas companies of any city is of a great extent, but none so rapid as the advancement of the city itself, for the consumption of gas and the extension of gas mains mark the growth of the best class of residences and the settlement of the well-to-do classes from whom the most material advance is expected. The New Gas Light Company of Janesville was established in 1856, and at once began the manufacture and distribution of gas in the city, advancing as the needs of the city demanded. This company has now reached a position among manufacturers equal to any in a city of equal population, having over thirteen miles of pipe laid in the city and suburbs. The city is brilliantly lighted by this company at a much lower rate than at the initial stages of the work. This reduction as well as the reduction in price to consumers, speaks louder than words, of the extreme liberality practiced by Mr. Merrill in his dealing with the public, as all reductions both to city and private consumers were made at his own option. The company furnishes gas for illuminating purposes, cooking and heating stoves and grates, of which they supply at the present time over 400 stoves and grates in the city. The works are situated in the north end of the city and are fully supplied with all modern appliances known to the science of gas manufacture.

NEW GAS LIGHT COMPANY OF JANEVILLE, H. MERRILL, SUPERINTENDENT.

The growth of the gas companies of any city is of a great extent, but none so rapid as the advancement of the city itself, for the consumption of gas and the extension of gas mains mark the growth of the best class of residences and the settlement of the well-to-do classes from whom the most material advance is expected. The New Gas Light Company of Janesville was established in 1856, and at once began the manufacture and distribution of gas in the city, advancing as the needs of the city demanded. This company has now reached a position among manufacturers equal to any in a city of equal population, having over thirteen miles of pipe laid in the city and suburbs. The city is brilliantly lighted by this company at a much lower rate than at the initial stages of the work. This reduction as well as the reduction in price to consumers, speaks louder than words, of the extreme liberality practiced by Mr. Merrill in his dealing with the public, as all reductions both to city and private consumers were made at his own option. The company furnishes gas for illuminating purposes, cooking and heating stoves and grates, of which they supply at the present time over 400 stoves and grates in the city. The works are situated in the north end of the city and are fully supplied with all modern appliances known to the science of gas manufacture.
